Waddy Krommer, the young man found by Mr. Charles H. Wood in his house after midnight Thursday night, was in the dock at the Police Court this morning. He was charged with housebreaking by Wood. The court promptly nolle prosequied the case, because the defendant was on the premises with full knowledge of Mrs. Wood, the complainant's wife. Wood is a night watchman, and returned to his home at an unusual hour, to see if things were as he found them. Mrs. Wood appeared at court this morning and Wood appeared at court this morning and demanded a warrant for her husband, for threats of personal violence. She denied the charge of infidelity and said her hus-band accused her wrongfully. She swore that the threats occurred this morning in front of the court. She called her chil-dren—three boys—and asked them if they wanted to live with her or their father. He then threatened to kill her if she came after the children. The warrant was
